

CHIEFTAIN 1993

R E Scheuren
1.9.93

This year not only the senior class will be saying good bye to the school, but also our superintendent. After countless years of service to the students, parents, staff and faculty, Mr. Joseph Kilker, has decided to move on.

But just like the seniors that move on to something new he has a new beginning. The hustles of the day will no longer be on his shoulders. He now carries no yoke and can enjoy his days knowing this end means a new beginning.

His personality, hard work, and leadership will be missed by all.

Robby and Jake

THE YEAR . . . 1980 Ronald Reagan was about to enter the White House and a new decade had just begun. With this new era, rose 11 young individuals, who decided to "come" together and form a class. In September they all filed in with their corduroy pants, alligator shirts, sweater vests and clogs. Stacy G., B.J., Kathleen, Missy, Allison, Sean, Matt, Todd, Chrissy, Stacy C. and last but not least Toby. The new experience was confronted eagerly but at the same time hesitantly. They were excited that they could play with their friends every day, but fears arose, because they didn't know what they were getting in to. But, these fears soon subsided, because the class quickly learned to bond together against the Facist authority complex of the public education system. They began to think for themselves, and also for whoever was close enough to copy their paper. Kindergarten taught them valuable lessons, as that intitial year together proved to be the first of many stepping stones towards higher education.

1981 brought about the video game age, as the living room became a haven for Atari obsessed six year olds. But somehow, through thousands of games of Pac-Man, Asteriods and Space Invaders, they made it to the second grade.

That year they acquired 2 experienced veterans and a wise-guy, city slicker from Brooklyn. Tammy and DeEtte brought new depth to the class and Pete supplied humor with his classroom antics.

Pop culture thrived in 1983, as the class entered the third grade with their consciousness filled with the feminine stylings of Michael Jackson. On the heels of Darth Vader's Death a new age was born and the class was mature enough to embrace Joe, a cross-town rival, and Sam a disciple of the dark side of the force.

As they crossed the hall and were caught in the claws of the fourth grade, they learned the horrors of rapid multiplication. But, this was a milestone year as they mastered the basic mathematical skills, and were blessed with the leadership of Heather and the wit and cynicism of Josh.

As 5th grade came to a close they put away their neon bracelets and jelly shoes, and thrashed their Garbage Pail kids, they achieved sixth grade status and became the Kings and Queens of the elementary. Royalty reigned and one Tuesday, Amanda joined the court. The 6th grade was highlighted by Allison's Bead necklace which provided them with entertainment each time the teacher left the room.

In 1987 brought a new beginning as they ventured up the stairs' into the hallowed halls of learning where they were demoted to mere peasantry.

The class confronted the senior bullies and their class rings. They constantly had to dodge beatings while walking through the halls.

But initiations built character for the seventh graders, character that was able to propel them through the hard tasks of high school.

In eighth grade, Justin became the newest addition to the class. He arrived in the beginning of the year, instantly made an impression upon the class. His personality definitely shocked many of his new class mates, but soon, he began to fit in, and like everyone else, he belonged.

So here the class was, 21 unique individuals, each climbed the high mountains of the first 12 years of school. They adapted to changes, overcame hardships and saw friendly faces come and go. They laughed and they cried. They fought and they loved. But through all of this . . . They Made It. The year that they awaited for for 13 years. They were SENIORS. They were the leaders of all the students. The veterans. They survived dozens of teachers. Hundreds of tests. Fifty-five report cards. Hours of detention. They felt like they'd done it all.

The class was like a puzzle. And in their 13th year, the puzzle was completed. Laura and Kelly, two over achieving students were the two final pieces to form the final picture. For a while, they were referred to as the junior-seniors, but soon, everyone knew that they were part of the whole.

So this is their story. Eleven "mothers and fathers," who started this family. Through the years the total grew to twenty-three. A united group. All for one, one for all . . . Together we stand, and all that stuff. They will never forget the small, brick building in Narrowsburg, for this school is their roots. It is more than a place of learning, it was where they grew up. From their first day, until their last. From the field trip to Fort Delaware, to the memorable class trip to Florida. From finger painting to Economics. From Kindergarten to Commencement. Narrowsburg is the beginning of twenty-three bright futures . . . In many different directions. But no matter what salary they acquire, what clubs they join, or what age they become. They will always have one thing in common. They are all part, and always will be part, of a special group . . . The Class of 1993.

Matt our fourteen year friendship, a hike, my food drawer and courtesy not to hog it all. The ices play and everything else we've been through. I'll never forget you. Kathleen - mozzarella sticks, your own restaurant and Garth Brooks. Josh - alternative music, our two hour conversations, pork rind dip, Edward Scissorhands, a town where something happens and all the jokes we beat into the ground. Laura another school dance, my two year crush on you, the A's, a six page letter, our "marriage" and my lab book. Thanks for considering me as "family", and for always being just a phone call away. I don't know what I would've done without you. Melissa - The Breakfast Club, a cart, a date with Laettner, Prom '90, "Just Like Heaven", the fries stand. . . do you sell brautwurst? One day when murder's legal, Spanish class and the biggest apology ever. Thank you for being the best friend imaginable. I'll never forget all we've been through and all you've done for me. Best wishes "SIS" keep in touch. Mr. Olear - thanks for being much more than my teacher. Coach Elco - Good Enough painting and a case of bug spray. Coach Kelly a winning season and a legitimate pitching staff. Thanks a lot. Kara (my honey), there are no words to describe what I've felt towards you in the past two plus years. You've given me everything you have, and I'm not sure what our future holds in store, but I'm ready to face it . . . with you by my side. And hopefully things can fall into place. I'll always remember our "walks" all the movies we "watched", October 26, 1990, Prom '92 and everything else we've been through. I love you!!! And finally I've saved the best for last: Mom, you've given me everything I have, physically and mentally. You've been the perfect mother, stopping at nothing to give me everything possible, holding on for my security, but also releasing me, so I could learn and grow. I'll always be your little boy and I will always love you.

I, Christine Arik Grund, will the following: Veronica: a real laugh, long talks, another crazy night with my cuz and Kristen and home plate. Kristen (daughter) Hey what'cha drinkin'? A real father, fourth of July, and similar boyfriends (good luck with Jake!). Anita: childhood memories, blood-suckers, Virginia and everlasting friendship. Tammy the "car" experience with Karen, shaving our legs and "your father's home", Pizza Hut and the rif with that bra! Christine D (daughter): The night I took you to Honesdale and someone was waiting for us at Dunkin Doughnuts, dreams of escaping to Niagara Falls, all our fights and make-ups, wrestling with Kristen and Richie in the living room and a friendship forever no matter what; thank you. Kelly: years of Chorus, a new-found friendship this year and our talks, the Poison concert and losing a certain piece of clothing! I wish you all the luck with Wade. Tom: a date that doesn't "front", another interesting ride home w/ my cuz and Clarence, our numerous talks, someone who is always here for you like you were for me. Heather E: "my arm!" Chinese food at my house, "Bingo", and our friendship. Karen G: to Mom I leave an end to your search for your twin and a true friend forever. Anne: our Beaverbrook days, the tape we made, dance lessons and a waterfight. Missy: Sam is normal, Twin Peaks, our "joint" art project, "Billy, Billy, Billy" and Paul. Stacy G: a bike ride to Monica's your birthday party, the songs we wrote, the walk with Christine N & cookie-cutter pan cakes, a hailstorm, and Dolly Parton Todd: "I Heard It Through the Lunchline" (what were the words?) and a Ouija board. Justin: another friendship as crazy as ours, a good fight, and a shove into the Barnes pool. Matt the promise about Thad and "Buckstyle!" J.R.: the dead thing on the tracks (you tricky S.O.B.) a memorable evening and a few morals. A.J.: Flashing the school, imaginary dudes in cars, and all my funky earrings, Mark: a very good friendship, "Say Hi Mark", and a true friend who holds a special place in my heart. Chris Barnes: a trip to Florida, phone xxx, and a loving wife. Melissa N: SPSBFBH "Which one's the brake? and the cleaning bill for my car. Tom: our rocky relationship, New Year's Day, going to the movies, a cup of hot tea (ha, ha). Toby Richie Diaz's party, the alibi and all the food you ate at my house, Phil: all the money you grubbed off me, T and S, Paula vs. Debbie (Paula wins), our videotape, Denny's after the concert in Middletown, and my sensibility. Eileen: our "car" project and getting lost in Liberty. Heather D: your birthday party and another mommy. Bug: vampire books and another little sister as completely abnormal as me. Spazzy: Your '94 sweatshirt (you can have it back) a great body slam and chunks of flesh. Eve: somebody else to warp Liz's mind. To the Class of 93 I leave someone else to put up with the short jokes and cracks about witchcraft. Best wishes for the future and I'll see you at the reunion.

I Christine Gray will to Sammi B the common sense to look beneath the bathroom stall before opening the door, another game of CaDice, another night of running in the main, a trip to McDonald's in Port Jervis, a pillow fight, to be able to hang at my house and we don't get into trouble, and the thunder and lightening storm of the year; To Chrissy Grund I will my bank book, a month of being ungrounded, many more nights with P.D. a locksmith for her back doors, a watch that isn't half an hour slow, a trip with Sam and I and an all nighter. To Melissa Schariest I will my grades, another job, a step ladder for her window, another night with J.D. a walk up the wall more but hiding in the snow, a night in the tree house another reception, a recording of "all sizes, all colors, all shapes, and all flavors" a stroke of good luck, a truck that dies on air, and a tumble off the chairlift; And to the Class of 93 I will great paying jobs and success.

I Bernard Michael Lohmann being of unsound mind will the following first to Jake I leave jello wrestling, sanke and the regulators all of the fishing trips where we went back to my house. Trips to the casino, some holsteins to put on some nice farmland, a bamboo pole. To Justin a radiator that works, that drives you around as good as me. J.R. a long jacket (but not mine) devils well, driving my truck, Skinners Falls. Tom a car that looks good and has a good motor. Some real music getting barred. Joe F. wildwood — hey you in the orange shirt. Pete a sock in the eye, a hay bake and a tire, cheeseburgers, a parabolic curve hot dog cooker. Matt when you walked to my house with Todd a tire and some hay and the theft at the hooptey. John S. a camaro with a firebird nose, action park, hanging in my grandparents house your laundry. Mike D — being truant, pizza hut, burping in Tom's face, hey guys wait for me. Denis — nananana the wheel chair golf in your back yard and uncle money bucks pool. Chris Barnes go get Mike. Mike C. good luck with the shop. Brian all the times I best you up on the bus, coming back from Turkey Hill. Willy F Woodlock — the Kingston armery getting out at 9:30 going in at 8:30 and luck in Arizona. Rocco — breadsticks, swimming hold, getting lost on a delivery, almost sinking the boat in the town pond. Ken W. let me drive and I'll tell you how to get there. Kris K — F.P.S. some J.D. and Rumpelintz, a club of tape and thumb tacks. Chris R towing your car home, fishing. A transmission from Tom. Dan — camping behind the trailer park — Gun n Roses tapes riding behind my house. Clarence at hump trying to catch bats. My dog the monte. Joe S a hair cut the 1 hour and half Missy — July 4, 1992 and the ability to pay debts. Kara a bag of paws. Sean a wheel horse. John H a party where you don't fight with J.R. jump start my ride. Mark your car rolling away. Liz driving me and Jake to Skinners. Nikki — a chicken truck. Val carrying you at the field day and a boy friend just like me. Steve — the springs To my parents my thanks for your support and putting up with me and my love.

Hey ... Hey stop that!!!

It has often been said that disappointment is the worse possible feeling. Picked by the coaches at s.c.c.c, to be the 2nd in the league, the boys had high hopes for sectionals. Unfortunately, these hopes were shot down by a hand full of losses. Individually our team can match strength with anyone in the league, but it seemed that we could never find the team chemistry. After 9 games, we posted a 2-7 record, with two wins over Roscoe. On the positive side, as the final buzzers went off, we were always sure that we expressed all of heart, spirit, and talent on the basketball court, even though, we couldn't gain victories.

Goodbye and thank you to Joe Starner, Matt Reith, Pete Christ, Justin Knapp, B.J. Lohmann, Toby Lahey, and Todd Lang, for finishing their H.S. basketball careers at Narrowsburg.

Nice 1 inch vertical, Matt!

The 1992-93 season was more successful than the past few years. It started with a championship at the Lady Wildcat tournament. After bringing back the trophy, we started the season with wins over Roscoe and Manor, improving our record to 4 and 0. After a string of disappointing losses, the second half of the season brought hope. After a romping over Manor, it looked like the lady Indians were back on track. With a little luck and hard work sectionals were in their future.

Congratulations to Melissa Feagles, and Heather Emeigh for finishing their senior years at Narrowsburg!

Simon says stop!

The 1991-1992 season wasn't the most successful ever, but all the athletes kept their chin up and continued to play with intensity and spirit. Every game was filled with excitement and even though the Indians didn't always come out the victors, we still had fun and displayed sportsmanship, no matter how bad we lost. After all was said and done, some outstanding athletes were honored at the athletic banquet held on June 12, 1992. For soccer the most improved players were Pete Christ and Laura Hawker. Most valuable were Bill Garbe, Aí Smith, and Melissa Feagles. In basketball, the most improved awards went to Todd Lang and Jamie Meyer. Most valuable were Bill Garbe and Melissa Feagles. In softball, Anita Crocitto was named most improved, and Tammy Jay was most valuable.

Most improved in baseball was David Garbe, and most valuable was Joe Starner. Cheerleader of the year was Karen Weber. At the end of the night, two exceptional athletes were honored as boy and girl athlete of the year. These two fine athletes were Karen Grund and Bill Garbe.
